Nearly perfect weather, coupled with the lure of bargains and a festival atmosphere, lured a goodly number of shoppers to downtown Dixon today, the opening of a two-day Sidewalk Sale.

Business was brisk at tables, clothing racks and merchandise displays outside stores. First Street was closed off to vehicular traffic from Crawford Avenue to Peoria Avenue to enable shoppers to circulate freely among the outside displays.

The event will continue until 8 this evening and then resume from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday. (Telegraph Photo)

Ford and Miki complete talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki concluded two days of talks today with a joint statement asserting that a secure South Korea is essential for the maintenance of peace and stability in Asia.

At the same time they expressed hope for peaceful unification of North and South Korea but said the United States should not retreat from its defense commitment to the Seoul regime.

The two leaders, meeting on the 30th anniversary of the Atomic bombing of Hiroshima, reaffirmed the importance of the U.S.-Japan defense alliance. Ford assured Miki that the United States would continue to abide by its defense commitment to Japan "in the event of armed attack against Japan whether by nuclear or conventional forces."

Later, Miki, in a speech, cautioned the United States against any sudden change in the U.S. commitment to defend South Korea, saying the stability of Asia is at stake.

"We view the continued presence of American troops in the Republic of Korea as an important contribution to Korean peace and to Asian stability," Miki said. "We trust there will be no sudden change in this U.S. policy."

His remarks were prepared for a National Press Club luncheon which followed two days of talks with President Ford on global economic and security problems.

Speaking on the 30th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Miki noted that modern Japan is a nonmilitary state under its constitution and by "the deep-rooted convictions of its people."

"We have foresworn the acquisition of offensive weapons and will never acquire nuclear weapons," he said. "A rearmament Japan or a nuclear-armed Japan would only create fear and instability among our neighbors."

He also said he expects Japan will ratify the nuclear non-proliferation treaty in the near future.

Miki's views on the Korean situation are shared by the Ford administration, which in recent months has repeatedly warned North Korea against engaging in any military adventures against the south.

Discussing that possibility several weeks ago, Ford refused to rule out use of nuclear weapons against North Korea.

Miki spent several hours in consultations with Ford during his two-day official visit here.

After a Tuesday night working dinner at the White House, Ford expressed appreciation for the transformation in U.S.-Japanese relations since World War II days, pronouncing them "respectfully intimate and remarkably free of problems."

By all accounts, the first day's talks went smoothly. Ford gave Miki assurances that the United States is "firmly committed" to the American alliance with Japan.

He said the American setbacks in Indochina should not be interpreted as a prelude to a general American withdrawal from the Asian region.

A White House statement said Ford told Miki "the United States will stand by its allies and friends in Asia and elsewhere."

Miki, here on an official visit, reportedly stressed the need for closer Japanese-U.S. relations if the goal of peace and stability in Asia is to be achieved.

This is Miki's first trip to the United States since he became prime minister last December. His visit is viewed as a prelude to that of Emperor Hirohito in September.

Since arriving Sunday, Miki has been preoccupied with the Malaysian incident in which Japanese Red Army terrorists held up to 50 hostages in the U.S. Embassy in Kuala Lumpur.

One tangible result of Miki's visit was the signing of a joint agreement providing for bilateral cooperation in addressing common environmental problems. The agreement covers a number of specific areas, including automobile pollution control and solid waste management.

Two CIA operations showed profit, Colby testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency has made significant profits on two of its front operations, CIA Director William E. Colby testified today.

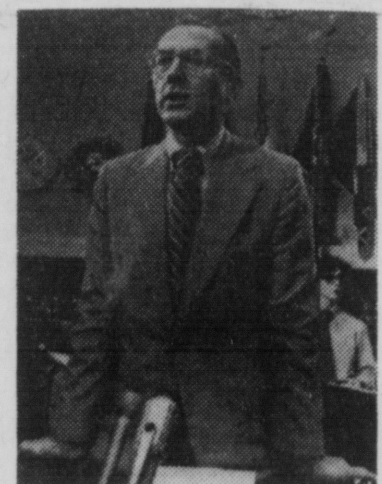

Colby told the House intelligence committee in prepared testimony that the CIA made considerable profits from Air America, an airline that aided CIA efforts in Southeast Asia, and from a CIA pension fund.

Air America is being disposed of while the pension fund continues to operate, although Colby said the profits have been turned into the Treasury since 1973. Colby did not specify the profit levels.

Most of the CIA's front operations, which the agency calls proprietaries, have been unprofitable, the director said.

"I foresee a continuing need to use the proprietary mechanism to further accomplishment of agency operations," Colby said.

Colby defined proprietaries

WILLIAM E. COLBY as "apparently commercial entities that are in reality controlled by the agency." He said, "Such companies provide cover and support for clandestine activities and enable us to carry out administrative tasks discreetly."

Most proprietaries have fewer than ten employees, but "a very few of our former proprietaries, such as Radio Free Europe and Air America, have been fairly large entities."

The pension fund was described by Colby as "a financial enterprise which enables the agency to administer certain sensitive trusts, annuities, escrows and insurance arrangements without attribution to the agency. It enables us to insure with a controlled company some of our activities we could not expose to regular insurance companies. It enables us to pay annuities to individuals whose links with the U.S. government must remain secret."

In the past, the proprietary companies retained their profits, Colby said. The intelligence chief said that by 1973 "accumulated profits amounted to a considerable sum" so the excess was reported to Congress and used to reduce the amount appropriated.

However, the CIA's general counsel advised that this did not constitute the full appropriations process.

Hoffa's foster son sought by FBI

DETROIT (AP) — The foster son of missing ex-Teamster President Jimmy Hoffa reportedly was seen in the company of a close associate of Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's rival for Teamster leadership, the day after Hoffa disappeared.

Hoffa's family has said it is looking for Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, Hoffa's foster son and bodyguard, since Thursday — the day after Hoffa disappeared. And the FBI also has said it would like to question O'Brien.

In Washington, Fitzsimmons was said by an aide to be unavailable for comment on report concerning O'Brien that appeared in today's editions of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. A union spokesman would only say, "I've seen the story, but I can't give you any help. I'm sorry."

A man who identified himself as O'Brien called The Detroit News Tuesday night and said:

"I don't want to tell you where I'm at but I'm out of town. I'm safe and all right." A Detroit television station received a similar call. The station was told O'Brien was away on union business.

Hoffa's daughter, Mrs. Barbara Crancer, told The Associated Press today that the family still had not heard from O'Brien. "All we're asking is for him to tell the truth," she said.

Mrs. Crancer would not elaborate on what she meant by that, nor would she say if the family believes O'Brien is linked in some way to the disappearance of the former Teamster chief.

The Post-Dispatch quoted unnamed sources as saying that O'Brien had been seen getting into a car on the morning after Hoffa's disappearance. The sources said the car was driven by a man close to Fitzsimmons, but the sources refused to identify the man.

Another disbursement of taxes

Sharon U. Thompson, Lee County Treasurer, announced today that she has made the second advance of the tax money to the taxing bodies. The total distribution was $3,206,855.

Taxing bodies receiving advances include Dixon Public Schools $970,057; City of Dixon $263,431; Dixon Township $47,383; Dixon Park District $49,045; Dixon Fire District $45,091; Sauk Valley College $123,964; and Lee County Government $355,412.

Mrs. Thompson further announced that the third and final advance is scheduled for October. The treasurer praised all the taxing bodies for their cooperation.

Something fishy in space Former Dixonite in NASA experiment

By BILL SHAW

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has been heavily criticized by some taxpayers as a folly. Many believe it to be worthless.

However, those involved with the programs of NASA feel differently, including a former Dixon resident, Dr. Victor Eichler, who is playing an important role in research on the recent Apollo-Soyuz mission.

Dr. Eichler is a member of the biology team working for NASA on an experimental project observing the reaction of fish to the weightlessness of space. To some observers who followed the spaceshot from liftoff to splashdown, the thought of astronauts taking movie pictures of fish in the spacecraft was something of a joke. To Dr. Eichler and NASA administrators the behavior of these fish is a "high priority" concern.

Dr. Eichler, son of Betty Eichler and the late Victor Eichler of Dixon, has been working for NASA on a summer-job basis. He is a biology professor at Wichita State University during the school year. Dr. Eichler applied for the temporary work before he knew that the fish experiment would be taking place.

The fish used in the experiment are minnow-like fish called killifish. The project's official name is "Killifish Hatching and Orientation." It is one of the life-sciences experiments of NASA. Dr. Eichler has been stationed in the Johnson Space Center in Houston.

The phenomenon of space sickness brought about the killifish experiment. Much like car, train or airsickness, Dr. Eichler notes that "90 per cent of the astronauts suffer from some degree of motion sickness for the first couple of days they are in space."

NASA officials decided to put fish into space to study the problem. Fish were chosen because they are easy to experiment with, to dissect, analyze and observe. It is also easy to

President signs voting bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring "the right to vote is at the very foundation of our American system," President Ford today signed a seven-year extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, a landmark piece of civil rights legislation.

"Nothing must interfere with this very precious right," the President said as he signed the bill in a Rose Garden ceremony.

Without Ford's signature, the 10-year-old act, credited with greatly increasing black participation in politics, would have expired at 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

The 1965 law attacked electoral discrimination against blacks in seven Southern states.

The extension broadens the coverage to areas in 24 states where more than 5 per cent of voting-age residents are Mexican-American, Alaskan natives, American Indians or of Asian ancestry.

Included are certain voting districts of New York City; Texas, and parts of California and Colorado.

The extension also includes the original act's nationwide ban on literacy tests.

The measure requires federal pre-clearance of voting district changes and permits federal registration and election examiners to go into areas that are covered to check records and voting procedures.

The Dixon Rotary Club, as a Bicentennial project, is raising funds to restore old advertising signs on the side of the Goodwill Store building on West First Street. The wall is at the city parking lot. The painting will be opposite the Bicentennial mural on the Werner Carpet building. Warren Walder, heading the project, says it will take approximately $2,000 to complete the job. The club has raised $500. Funds will be sought from the Coca-Cola Co., Bull Durham tobacco and Proctor and Gamble Co., which made products advertised in the faded signs. The club is asking the Dixon City Council to underwrite part of the cost if enough cannot be raised from other sources. (Telegraph Photo)

Legislators ignore public: vote themselves pay raises

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Our congressmen and senators have pulled another fast one on the American public. They have voted to raise their own salaries—again.

No wonder millions feel that these Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink are so busy taking care of themselves. It is utterly and completely disgusting.

Behind the scenes, the congressmen used an inside gimmick to boost their own salaries. On an earlier procedural vote on whether to consider the salary boost or not, 302 Congressmen said "yea," 124 said no. This left the opening for the final vote to be close and gave some 90 members, who publicly appeared to be against their own pay-raise, the political opportunity of seeming to oppose it while they would get it anyway.

It also made the pay-boost easy for the senators. The senators cleared the boost for themselves July 28 by a whopping 58 to 29.

The variety of salary and other increases that these denizens in Byzantium-on-the-Potomac have voted themselves is simply appalling.

This one is effective in October and presently figures an increase of about five per cent, but the denizens voted that each fall thereafter there will be a further cost-of-living increase on top of it. Meanwhile, we are supposed to forget that the last increase they voted themselves was 41½ per cent!

That one was, as is usual, achieved on what the members call a "voice vote." The members use this on salary boosts so that the "ayes" cannot be discovered. The vote does not appear on the record. For whose good?

Unknown to the public, the representatives and senators also use still another gimmick. They have what they call a "suspension of rules" procedure. No amendments are allowed as a way to rush through a bill. But who would know it?

The senators have already voted themselves three offices in their states instead of two and also free mailing privileges, telephone allowances, etc., on a scale that would make Midas blush. There seems to be no limit to their venality.

Lobbyists? They get congressional favors on a scale that makes Mt. Everest look like a molehill. And congressional regulations regarding favor peddlers are the talk of the town.

Congress arranged it so that lobbyists do not have to report the source of their funds or the amounts of their congressional spending. They do not have to report their congressional links or other inside, cozy relationships with the senators and representatives. And no law requires a senator or representative to report his financial condition. For whose good?

This column has protested many times about the outrageous, lush, unnecessary trips that congressmen and senators and their wives, staffs, etc., take all over the world on "official business" and brazenly charge them to the suffering American taxpayers.

It's a roaring scandal. These gravy-train riders have also quietly voice-voted themselves a 50 per cent boost in their own travel allowance at the taxpayers' expense. They increased it from $50 a day to $75. But who would know it?

I'm thinking of the lush junkets abroad of one high-living congressman that included a six-week tour of Europe's most glamorous cities, made with his female receptionist and another female. They went for a two-week cruise on the Aegean Sea, demanded (and got) free tickets to the Vienna Film Festival, etc., and enough other goodies to sink the Washington Monument.

Another congressional free-loader I have in mind piled himself and his woman companion into a rented Cadillac limousine, leisurely toured the French and Italian Riviera, the Austrian Tyrol and Switzerland and ended up in Copenhagen—all at the expense of us taxpaying peasants.

Even many lame-duck congressmen and senators take these lush junkets at the taxpayers' expense after they have been defeated. The lame ducks are merciless in this steal.

Congressional travel abroad can be necessary. It can also be highway robbery.

There are many courageous, selfless men in Congress, as pure in all this as the driven snow. But the House and Senate as a whole are not. No wonder nationwide polls show that Congress' approval rating throughout our country is lower than used-car dealers and garbage collectors. These free-loaders have no one to blame but themselves.

Clever, these gadgeteers

Americans no longer have the gadgetry field all to themselves, if that is news to anyone.

For example, the Japan Economic Journal reports that a Tokyo firm will shortly place on the market a wireless headphone for receiving stereo music from a home stereo unit equipped with a special transmitter.

Wearing the headphones, milady can have music wherever she goes in the house by tuning into the transmitter on the first floor. In a wooden house, receiving distance is about 10 meters, or about 33 feet. Sounds from TV and tape recorders can also be heard by fitting an adapter. Price of the complete outfit will be 19,800 Yen ($65).

On the other side of the world, reports Electronics Magazine, a West German component maker is relying on homeowners' fascination with novelties to induce them to buy a new integrated circuit light switch that operates at the merest touch by the conduction of the slight amount of electricity in the body of the person touching it.

It's estimated that the new switch will sell for five times as much as conventional household switches without dimmers. A key market is expensive new homes whose owners won't mind paying a few extra dollars for the novelty, convenience and reliability.

It seems that not only Yankee inventiveness but "conspicuous consumption" speaks with a foreign accent these days.

"Now, that's what I call style!"

Apollo-Soyuz, detente

By DON OAKLEY

Even as America's three astronauts and Russia's two cosmonauts were preparing to wing off for their history-making linkup in space, the question of how far a free society can, or should, cooperate with a totalitarian one was being sharply etched by two very different men.

Exiled author and Nobel Prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn has been touring the United States with this message: Don't trust the Communists; don't help them solidify their iron rule over the people of Russia in the interests of "detente." Stay strong, because you are the hope of the world.

"The Communist leaders say, 'Don't interfere in our internal affairs. Let us strangle our citizens in peace and quiet.' But I tell you, interfere more and more. Interfere as much as you can. We beg you to come and interfere."

Whenever America helps the persecuted in the Soviet Union, he says, it is defending not only them but itself as well. "You're defending your own future."

As a prime victim of the Soviet system, Solzhenitsyn's credentials are unchallengeable. But also impressive are those of the chief architect of detente, Henry A. Kissinger. In one of a series of speeches he has made outside of Washington in recent days, the secretary of state bluntly challenged the critics of this policy.

"What is the alternative they propose?" he asked. "What precise policies do they want us to change? Are they prepared for a prolonged situation of dramatically increased danger? Do they wish a return to the constant crisis and high arms budget of the cold war?"

The United States will continue on the course on which it is embarked, he pledged, "because it offers hope to our children of a more secure world."

He pointed to the Apollo-Soyuz mission in space—an area in which 15 years ago we thought ourselves in almost mortal rivalry—as symbolic of the distance we have travelled.

Symbolic of something else, fortunately, was the decision by President Ford, on the advice of Henry Kissinger, not to receive Solzhenitsyn upon his arrival in this country, reportedly because it would have been "disadvantageous" to U.S. policy. This would seem to be the very kind of misuse of detente Solzhenitsyn warns against.

On the other hand, Solzhenitsyn sometimes give the impression that he is a latter-day Peter the Hermit, going around whipping up enthusiasms for a crusade against the infidel. There are limits to what the United States can do on behalf of Soviet citizens.

Also on the other hand, Kissinger has told the Soviets that U.S.-Soviet cooperation must be a two-way street and has warned them against "selective detente."

Thus though their approaches, as well as their responsibilities, may be different, the two men are working for the same goal.

It is true, as some critics have charged, that the joint space mission is more a political than a technological spectacular. It may also be true that whatever new scientific knowledge is gained from it will benefit the Soviets more than ourselves.

Yet the significance of Apollo-Soyuz as a symbol, as Kissinger pointed out, should not be minimized. The greatest need of the world for as far into the future as we can see is to prevent a war between the two superpowers. The joint venture in space is a tremendous step away from war. At the very least, it has made one small crack in the wall of ignorance about the outside world behind which the Soviets keep their people.

They cannot maintain this wall forever. Each year, each decade, each generation U.S.-Soviet detente is actively pursued, more such cracks will appear. If we truly believe in the superiority of our system, if we truly believe that freedom, not ideological slavery, is the natural state of man, the great dawning of liberty in Russia Solzhenitsyn dreams of must eventually come.

Voice of the people

I'm wondering, after plodding through the letter of July 30 by a Mr. Amos Roe, what university he attended. This sort of stuff is preached from many academic pulpits these days (bite the hand that feeds you is their idea of sophistication). In fact, Mr. Roe's letter was a barely-changed version of some of my class notes from a graduate sociology lecture.

That line of thinking, if such it can be called, is not so convincing when you go to other countries. I've yet to see an average citizen anywhere else who has it as good as the average citizen in the United States. Not only are they less fortunate, but in so many places they're not allowed to complain or criticize—and they'd better do as they're told.

Every time we come back from a trip, interesting though it was, I thank God I was born here and belong here. I'm boldly and happily a flag waver! I don't mind being considered—what was it Mr. Roe called it?—"simplistic." That flag stands for the country that has spelled out equal opportunity for every citizen to climb on his own idea and his own power. Sure there have been many miscarriages of justice because there are always unscrupulous people who grab power for a while until the people, through the means provided in the constitution, have pulled them down.

Yes, Mr. Roe, this economic system does favor certain classes: the ambitious and the ingenious. No, Mr. Roe, you're not blasphemous, merely naive. There's an old saying, "The proof is in the pudding," and it doesn't take many trips to discover that the American pudding is the richest and most nourishing!

Dorothy Gates Stewart

I want to let you know how much I approve of the articles you wrote in Tuesday and Wednesday's paper. I am not at all in favor of gun or ammunition control. People do have the right (or should have) to protect themselves.

On Monday, July the 28th the Sterling paper ran a story on Newman High School. It was a very nice and informative article and I would like to see it printed in the Dixon paper. We have many Catholic families in Dixon who would be interested in seeing that article.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Keith Cook

A style pointer that bothers me each time I read the small news items of traffic violation and the like is the use of only the surname of a woman, after her name is initially given. Why not call her Miss, Ms., or Mrs. Sometimes the final indignity of "the subject" is used. This might well be the style in police reports, but why not call a lady a lady, especially when she has failed to yield?

Sincerely,

Claire Metzger

Shame! Shame! Shame on the Dixon City Council! Why must it go to Sterling to hire a law firm as legal counsel for our city? What does it feel is wrong with our local lawyers that one could not serve effectively as city attorney?

Dixon citizens are often reminded to support our city by shopping in Dixon, but it makes it difficult to do so when even the city council goes out of town to shop.

Peter Beard cuts wide swath in social world

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — Photographer, naturalist, author and occasional beam in the social light, Peter Beard is discomfitingly intense about a lot of things.

He blasts gossip columnists who—not unfairly—see romantic ties between him and such beauties as Lee Radziwill and Candy Bergen.

He denounces man's destruction of the planet, the plasticity of the American scene, the tedium of most people's lives.

He praises with a lover's zeal Danish author Isak Dinesen, about whom he recently compiled a book, and her works about Africa.

He is equally at home with friends such as the Rolling Stones and Caroline Kennedy, up to his neck in mud on the shores of Kenya's Lake Rudolph while studying crocodiles for his book "Eyelids of Morning," or in his mill house on a Long Island cliff overlooking the sea.

The 37-year-old Beard likes to save things — be they eroding cliffs, exotic memorabilia in big scrapbooks or the lives of wild animals. A Yale graduate with prep school manners and boyish looks, Beard "escaped" to Africa more than a dozen years ago. His first book of photographs, "The End of the Game," was hailed by Isak Dinesen as "an epitaph... over that old Africa which was so dear to my heart."

His latest book, "Longing for Darkness," is a loving tribute to Dinesen, the pen name of Baroness Karen Blixen, who died in 1962. The chapters, which closely parallel her book, "Out of Africa," were written by her friend and helper, Kamante. The book is illustrated with Kamante's drawings and old photographs, captioned with Dinesen's haunting, memorable words.

Beard asked Jacqueline Onassis to write an afterword for the book. She wrote, "Out of Africa" has always meant more to me than any other book. This book can show (young people today) that they had allies in an earlier time, who knew that courage was endurance as well as abandon.... This book is a work of love."

Atlanta, hailed by Georgians as the "next great city of the world," used to be a place where one found restaurants which prided themselves on serving country ham, biscuits, turnip greens and other Southern delicacies. Not any more.

With rapid growth and influx of people from all parts of the globe, Atlanta's restaurants have become cosmopolitan, sleek and expensive. One of the best we found is The Midnight Sun located in Peachtree Center where menu and service are superb and the check substantial.

From a wide selection of dishes, both Scandinavian and French, we chose Coquille de Seafood Scandia, a delightful mixture of shrimp, scallops, crab and lobster meats.

This is how it's prepared: Make 2 cups of medium cream sauce by melting 4 tablespoons butter, then stirring in 4 tablespoons flour. Blend this thoroughly over a gentle flame. Add 1 level teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon white pepper. Gradually, while stirring constantly, add 2 cups whole milk which has been previously scalded, with 2 thin slices of onion, a bit of bay leaf and 2 sprigs of parsley snipped fine. Keep stirring over a low flame until mixture thickens and is smooth. Remove from fire and briskly stir in 2 beaten egg yolks.

Half cook 1/2 cup shrimp by dropping into boiling water for 1 1/2 minutes, then plunging into cold water. Drain. Heat 2 ounces of butter in a frying pan over medium heat, then add 4 large fresh mushrooms, sliced. Sauté until mushrooms are golden brown.

Add 1 small chopped onion and 3 tablespoons dry white wine. Now add half-cooked shrimp, 1/2 cup raw scallops, 1/2 cup fresh (or frozen and drained) crabmeat, and 1/2 cup cooked lobster meat. Cover pan and cook 2 minutes over medium flame.

Add white sauce and cook uncovered for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add a pinch of dry mustard, salt and pepper to taste, and a scant handful of chopped chives and parsley mixed together. Stir.

Spoon the mixture into 4 to 6 (depending on size of servings desired) coquille shells or ramekins and cover generously with grated parmesan cheese. Broil under medium flame until browned on top.

This is elegant with a crisp green salad.

Through his friendship with Lee Radziwill, Beard met the Kennedy children. He coached Caroline in photography — he says her work is excellent — and spent a summer on the Onassis-owned island of Skorpios.

After Aristotle Onassis died, one syndicated columnist hinted that the Greek shipping magnate was upset by Beard's visit to the island and by Beard's unusual diaries.

Beard groaned when reminded of the article. "Ari liked my diaries. He was impressed by the effort."

Those diaries, 20 fat, leather-bound volumes kept for a period of 20 years, are as fascinating as any book that Beard has done. Like three-dimensional Hieronymus Bosch paintings, the diaries are crammed with squiggly ink drawings, letters, clippings, exotica like a toe-nail Beard once lost, feathers, bullets, blood from buffalo hunts and thousands of photographs.

By The Associated Press
The squirrel hunting season has gotten under way in the southern half of the state, and by all accounts, devotees of squirrel stew are going to have a good year.

"We have a bumper crop of squirrels this year and hunting should be good," says Jack Ellis, Illinois upland game biologist.

"There was a good nut crop last fall and our surveys have shown most litters are running above average," said Ellis.

Hunting began Aug. 1 in the state's southern conservation zone, and starts Sept. 1 in the northern zone. But the southern zone has been expanded this year, giving hunters in a number of west-central counties an earlier shot at the squirrels.

The dividing line between southern and northern zones was once U. S. 36 from Indiana to the Mississippi River. Now the southern zone has been expanded to include all of Adams, Brown, Cass and Schuyler counties, as well as parts of Menard, Mason, Tazewell, Peoria, Fulton, McDonough and Hancock counties.

"There's as much good squirrel timber in some of these counties as there is anywhere in the state with the exception of the Shawnee National Forest areas," said Ellis. "And there are two major river bottoms in the area, so we decided to utilize it."

Last year the squirrel season ran until Dec. 15 in both zones, but this year it's been cut back to Nov. 15. One reason is that the longer squirrel season was conflicting with the deer hunting season.

Both gray and fox squirrels are hunted in Illinois. The gray squirrel is found primarily in the forested hills of the south, and also in the timbered river bottoms of western, west-central and northern Illinois.

The fox squirrel is found statewide, weighs slightly more than the gray, and has a dull orange underside and tail. The belly of the gray is white.

The best times for squirrel hunting are early morning and late evening hours.

Boost for DHS fund

One of 25 Mendota area girls will have a pair of new titles Saturday night.

At 8 p.m. Saturday at the Tri-County Fairgrounds Grandstand, three judges face the difficult task of selecting a successor to 1974 National Sweet Corn Queen Ellen Prentice.

However, this year's queen will also have the title of "Tri-County Fair Queen" and compete in the Illinois County Fair Queen Contest in Springfield in January.

If the new queen desires, she may also compete of the title of "Miss Illinois Valley" next June. The winner of this contest advances to the "Miss America" contest.

"The new queen and her court will also ride in approximately 10 parades in the area," Queen Contest chairman Judy Pickert said.

Saturday night's contest at the Tri-County Fairgrounds marks a move for the annual event.

Because of the added title and better seating facilities, the Mendota Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors accepted the offer of the Tri-County Fair Association to stage the festival attraction at the fairgrounds at no charge to the Chamber.

In case of rain, the contest would be moved to the Mendota

Sewer vote scheduled on Aug. 30

AMBOY—A special referendum will be held on Aug. 30 on the question of the issuing of $125,000 in sanitary sewer bonds, according to action taken by members of the City Council Tuesday night.

Members of the council adopted an ordinance providing for updating the sewage-disposal system to meet requirements of the Environmental Protection Act of the State of Illinois. The improvements, estimated to cost $375,150, have been approved by members of the council. A state grant has been approved for part of the project and the city's share is estimated at $125,000.

There will be one polling place at the City Hall, with the polls being open from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Election judges named for the referendum are Aileen Morrissey, Eileen Boyle, Agnes Kellen, Leona Welty and Beatrice Lafferty.

In other action three resolutions were adopted to raise the fee for turning off water of delinquent users, from $1 to $10, also to $10 for turning the water back on, and to raise the initial water deposit from $25 to $50. City water users who are delinquent in paying water bills will be sent a notice and after 10 days the water will be shut off. These resolutions will be effective Sept. 1.

Henry Gerdes Jr. requested information on water and sewer fees for establishing an automatic car wash at the corner of Main Street and Davis Avenue. The matter was referred to the water committee.

Mayor Kenneth McCracken reported that an offer had been received for the old parking meters. Councilmen agreed to sell them if a suitable figure can be agreed upon.

Bills were approved for payment in the following amounts: general fund, $18,586.80; water operation, $3,796.31; sewer operation, $1,074.40.

There will be an adjourned session of the council at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 19 and a public hearing on the proposed referendum will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 25 in the City Hall.

Amboy school referendum set Oct. 4

AMBOY—Members of the board of education established Oct. 4 as the date for special referendum on the question of issuing $730,000 in building bonds to renovate and remodel the junior high school building.

The usual six school polling places will be used in the election and the polls will be open from 12 noon until 7 p.m. Pay for the judges was set at $20 each.

A revised report from the architects set cost of the remodeling at $956,000 and suggested an additional 10 per cent be added for possible inflation for a total estimated cost of $1,044,000. The district has been assured of a grant from the state Capital Development Board for 36.41 per cent of the remodeling with the balance to be raised from local taxes.

This is estimated to be 26 per cent less than the original figure asked in the referendum which was defeated last year.

A breakdown of the architect's estimates showed $112,930 for exterior renovation, $313,547 for interior remodeling and renovation; $78,000 for equipment and lockers; $143,069 for electrical remodeling; $82,132 for plumbing; $89,231 for heating and $55,000 for converting original building to system of classroom control of ventilating and heating.

Items not included in the remodeling plans which will be done if there are enough funds in order of priority are: changing all exterior wooden doors to steel doors and frames; new fenced parking area for buses; new lights for the football field; and sidewalks and curbs repaired in front of the building.

Several interested citizens were present to question the necessity of various items mentioned in the remodeling plans.

Howard Bothe, board president, said "I hope the public will favor this project as the board members feel it is very necessary."

"Bring your hobbies, crafts and art work for show and sale," Mrs. Ehlers urged area artists. Additional information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Ehlers at 539-6164.

The Liddle Shows will offer children of all ages a variety of entertaining rides and attractions throughout the festival. Sunday, Aug. 10 should be a particularly good day for children to enjoy the rides starting at noon, carnival chairman Bill Gish said.

If the kids are hungry after a few rides, they'll probably be interested in competing for prizes in the annual Kids Corn Eating Contest, contest chairman Gaylon Ehlers said.

The contest will be held on the Veterans Park stage starting at 5 p.m.

Wrapping up the "Corntennial" celebration Sunday night will be the annual Amateur Talent Contest. Chamber officials are seeking a wide variety of amateur entertainment to attract crowds to the Veterans Park stage at 8 p.m.

Individual or groups interested in competing for the cash prizes offered to the top acts in the contest are urged to contact the chamber office for an entry blank.

Big business does pay attention to ethics

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Business pays a lot more attention to ethics than you might suppose or even than business itself, wary of being thought soft, might admit.

Companies ranging in size from Exxon Corp., the world's largest, to the corner newsstand have printed codes of conduct in which they commit themselves to God, honor, community, employees, customers and sometimes profit.

But recent scandalous activity involving illegal political contributions, bribes and other conduct that sometimes falls into a nebulous area between ethics and law, makes critics wonder if the codes are only paper.

Moreover, sometimes outright violations of the code are committed by managers who are aware, intelligent and in their own view, morally upright.

One possible and partial explanation for the behavior was found recently in a poll of managers in business that suggests subordinates may commit unethical acts out of loyalty to the firms or to superiors.

Loyalty, that is, seems to obscure the code. The allegiance of subordinates to superiors, in much the same way former President Richard M. Nixon's subordinates claimed loyalty to him, might subvert the company's higher intentions.

Archie Carroll, a faculty member in management at the University of Georgia, chose managers from various levels of business and asked if they agreed with these, among a total of 10, propositions:

1. "Managers today feel under pressure to compromise personal standards to achieve company goals." Almost 65 per cent agreed with the statement, Carroll found, but the greatest agreement was at the lower ranks of management.

2. "I can conceive of a situation where you have sound ethics running from top to bottom but, because of pressures from the top to achieve results, the person down the line compromises." The respondents agreed, overwhelmingly.

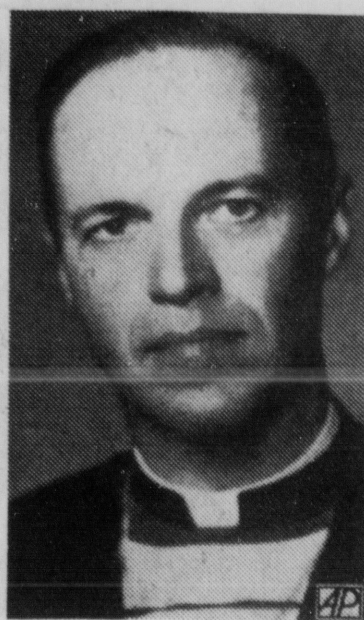

3. "The illegal business campaign contributions of the last year or so are realistic examples of the ethics of business today." Carroll found the majority of both middle and lower managers agreed, but top managers disagreed.

Perhaps the most significant finding came in response to this statement:

"The junior members of Nixon's re-election committee who confessed that they went along with their bosses to show their loyalty is just what young managers would have done in business."

Carroll relates: "Almost 60 per cent of the respondents agree that young managers in business would have done just what the junior members of Nixon's re-election committee had done."

Coupled with earlier findings, Carroll believes this response "adds support to the belief that managers are under strong pressures to adhere to their superiors' expectations of them."

Propose paying people not to have children

CHICAGO (AP) — Paying people not to have children might be an effective way to reduce population growth, two University of Illinois researchers suggest.

However, they found that a government subsidy would not offer much incentive for people to have more children.

The research was conducted by Rita J. Simon, professor of sociology and communications, and her husband, Julian L. Simon, professor of economics and business administration, at the university's Champaign-Urbana campus.

They conducted a telephone survey of 220 households in Illinois and 409 across the nation to determine if money would be an incentive to reduce family size or to increase it.

Government payments would be more effective in limiting family size than in increasing it, they say in a report of their study in Public Opinion Quarterly.

The survey asked how $25 to $300 a month for 18 years, either as taxes or as a subsidy, would influence the number of children the persons interviewed or their neighbors would have.

"People may believe that it is immoral or repulsive to have, or to not have, children for pay," the Simons noted.

"They may resist placing a monetary value on unborn or already-born children," they added.

The researchers therefore asked the people how they thought their neighbors, as well as themselves, would react in order to get at the real feelings,

Couple exchanges vows

MT. MORRIS — Miss Diane Dawn Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold E. Blake, Mt. Morris, exchanged marriage vows recently with James Edwin Bollman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Bollman, Rochelle.

The Rev. Melvin Stroud performed the double ring ceremony at the Mt. Morris Christian Church. Carl Brown was vocalist. Accompanying him on the organ was Bob Knodle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white dulcet satin which featured vertical bands of French Chantilly lace on the empire bodice and full bishop sleeves. The same lace trimmed the hem of her gown and cathedral-length train. Her illusion veil was held in place by a pearl headpiece.

Bridesmaid was Miss Donna Bollman, sister of the groom who wore a floor-length blue gown and veil. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations. Miss Peggy Bollman, sister of the groom, was the flower girl. She wore a blue dress and carried a basket of white carnations, blue roses and baby's breath.

Best man was Gary Covell. Ushers were Gary Ladwig and Bill Bear, both brothers-in-law of the bride. Eddie Bollman, brother of the groom served as ring bearer.

A reception was given in honor of the newlyweds at the Christian Church following the ceremony. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Debby Ladwig and Mrs. Denise Bear, sisters of the bride. Mrs. Greayer Johnson and Miss Lori Johnson served coffee and punch.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Bollman reside in Rochelle.

Patriotic banner good project

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

It's Bicentennial time. All across the country there are plans for parades, festivals, special events and commemorative displays. And chairpersons are on the prowl for fresh ideas to add color and excitement to their projects.

Here's a suggestion for a patriotic wall hanging or banner, with motifs made from buttons and readymade appliques. These directions are provided:

Choose a fabric with a sturdy hand, such as kettlet cloth. You'll need one yard for 45-inch material.

Fold the selvages in toward the middle and fuse together with an iron-on fusible material. Fray bottom end.

Pencil sketch design on front side.

Using the fusible material, attach appliques to fabric.

Use a light liquid glue to Bright buttons, embroidery floss and readymade appliques make a handsome Bicentennial banner.

'baste' the buttons in place. Solid-tone buttons with four holes will be most effective.

Stitch buttons in position with embroidery floss in contrasting tone.

Staple top edge to wooden dowel, or make casing for dowel. Tie ribbons at ends of dowel as shown so banner may be hung.

This is an ideal project for a Brownie or Scout troop, an elementary school art class or a junior high band. No sewing skill is required and the finished product is crisp and colorful.

For a more ambitious Bicentennial project, make an American flag for your club or civic organization. For complete instructions, send $1 to 'Stitchin' Time, Dixon Evening Telegraph, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, New York, 10019. Ask for Flag Leaflet J 225, and be sure to include your own name, address and zip.

A return to simple life in midwest

ELK FALLS, Kan. (AP) — Remember when life was simpler?

Margery Cunningham did. That's why she abandoned a $900-a-month job, a husband and the conveniences of big-city life in Los Angeles to get back to the basics: a country home in Kansas, complete with out-house, beehive and two pet hogs named Porkchops and Hambone.

"I lived for 30 years in Washington State and California and hated it with a passion," the Oklahoma-born, Kansas-bred mother of six said. "It took me 30 years to get back to the Midwest, but I'm back and I'm loving it."

A chest X ray pried her away from smog-choked Los Angeles seven years ago.

"The doctor said the X ray looked like I was a heavy smoker," she said. "I don't smoke, so I submitted my resignation that afternoon."

A registered nurse, Mrs. Cunningham earns money by working three nights a week at the Sedan City Hospital.

"I hoped all my life for a simpler life style," she said. Now, "I've never worked harder in my life, but I've never enjoyed life more."

She cooks on a 45-year-old gas stove, lights her house with kerosene lamps even though she allows herself the luxury of electricity and says her house has walking water.

"You walk out the back door to the hand pump and get it yourself," she said.

As for food, she raises almost all her own. That means a beehive for honey, goats for milk, chickens for eggs, rabbits and hogs for meat and a garden for vegetables. And for wine and jelly, there are mulberry trees, gooseberry bushes and grape vines.

"My hog last year was named Petunia," she said. "It was the first one the Sedan butcher had processed that ever had a name. The butchers there talked about it for weeks."

A reader of "The Whole Earth Catalog," which deals with life in the 1970s, Mrs. Cunningham said she's experimenting with making cheese from goat milk and making home brew. She's already converted goat milk into cottage cheese, but aging cheese will have to wait until she clears out her cellar.

She left her husband because "he was basically a city person and I'm a country person." As for the West Coast, "It's really a wasteland out there."

By SUE GARDNER
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Young non-conformists who in the last few years, sought out hats in flea markets and second-hand shops have contributed a great deal to the new popularity of headwear. They found ladies' clothes and men's caps of the 20s and 30s and after wearing them in fashion defiance of their hatless elders, they began looking for replacements. For them hats became a fad.

"We are delighted they didn't stop at old clothes and ancient furs," says George Dan, managing director of Kangol, Ltd., whose company is selling hats at the rate of four million annually out of England.

"The new hats are quite a departure from the elaborate feathers, flowers and fancies of past generations when a chapeau provided an essential part of a lady's costume," Dan said. "Just as the men's bowler or derby has lost its following, so has the huge, highly decorated ladies' hats."

"Before the days of air travel, a lady of fashion would include several large hat boxes in her luggage. These could fit into storage space in a boat or a train, but they prove too cumbersome for airplanes. Today's hat fanciers prefer to fold up a few of the new soft types and tuck them into a valise."

With young trendsetters influencing the distaff side, Kangol and other makers have provided what the flea markets

Old hat fad revives headwear

Berets and cloches head chapeau fashions for fall. Interest in such hats stems from youthful pursuit of old headwear in second-hand and flea-market shops. Beret (left) was made in Scotland in authentic tartan colors with clan name inside, in 100 per cent wool. Cloche features turned-back brim with a deco button, in soft wool.

never could do — a choice of color, texture and style keyed to current fashions. The new fall hats will feature natural fibers such as angora and wool in head-hugging millinery. The colors range from soft heather tones to vibrant hues of fall foliage.

Most popular are the cloches with stitched brims. Those that appear unadorned can be worn a half dozen ways by a flip of the brim and accented with the wearer's own ornaments. Others have self touches of clever, stylized flowers, or self-trimming to point up a profile line or hold the brim back from the forehead.

Dan believes a hat wearer should select a hue to complement her or his own coloring in eyes or skin tones. For example, with an autumn gold coat, he suggests a bright petrol blue or bottle green hat. Brown teams with fall camel or beige tones. Sometimes, he says, it is well to bring the hat up in tone such as a light blue one to go with a winter navy, all to mix rather than match accessory and basic colors.

This English businessman is optimistic about the future of the millinery trade as long as companies respond to fashion needs.

Sweden is tops in sales in the 43-country market where the firm sells. The United States runs second with Japan and Canada, third and fourth.

Berets sell in great numbers in this country but others want more structured hats. Kangol is the largest beret manufacturer in the world and only English producer of the Basque style. It also does military berets for servicemen including the United Nations and the Israeli soldiers. Berets became a popular hat after World War II and have remained an important mark of casual wear for both men and women.

Dan says the United States provides a good market for the visored cap in many versions, but these do not sell well elsewhere. Oddly enough, there appears to be no ethnic caps on the fashion horizon.

"The soft hat will go on for sometime because it is flattering and convenient," Dan predicts. "However, one day, another generation of young people will rediscover bowlers in a flea market and wear them, however fleetingly, and start a new trend."

Dear Ann by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to comment on the letter from "Upstate, N.Y." complaining about today's children being poorly behaved. Your reply suggested he was out of line, but my experiences and feelings concur with his completely.

I could tell stories you wouldn't believe — including one about a 10-year-old boy who ran stark naked through each and every dinner party his parents had.

The mother of this nutty kid would respond to the gasps and arched eyebrows with, "I hope no one here is offended by the sight of a child's beautiful body."

Then there was a neighbor who had the nerve to come over here and holler at me for telling his children not to scream and rough-house in our yard. He said it was a free country and they could play anywhere they liked, and besides, our yard was nicer to play in than theirs — more grass.

When I married nine years ago I assumed we'd have children but we've been completely turned off by what we've seen.

— Old Witch, Age 30

Dear Witch: If you'd let a 10-year-old streaker and a loony father deprive you of the joy of having a family, then YOU'RE nutty.

Can't you see it's the parents who are to blame, not the children? Wake up and smell the coffee, honey.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for the person whose weirdo father kept getting married a lot. She was afraid she might end up with six sets of in-laws.

Here is what an Internal Revenue Service publication says: "Once the relationship of father-in-law, mother-in-law, son or daughter-in-law, sister or brother-in-law, has been established by marriage, they will not be terminated by death or divorce."

So, please tell the worried lady that she may well end up with a longer wedding list than she had planned.

Since the original letter concerning this matter was signed, "Who's Who?" please sign mine — Who Cares?

Dear W. C.: A lot of people care but I'm glad you wrote because the I.R.S. is one thing and who you invite to a wedding is something else again.

I see no reason to invite several sets of relatives by a variety of marriage unless there is some emotional attachment. The way this gal's father is behaving, she'd have to include the immediate world.

Dear AnnLanders: School will be starting next month and I hope you will say something to boys — ages 15 and 16. They are the worst.

Their manners are awful. They treat us girls like we were guys — pushing and shoving us around when we try to get on the bus.

There's this girl Mitzi who has her leg in a cast and is on crutches. Do you think one boy on the bus had the decency to give her a seat? Forget it. A GIRL finally let her sit down.

All the kids read your column. In fact it's the main topic during lunch period, so please say something. — Ashamed To Print My Town

Dear Ashamed: These guys need to grow up. And they will, in time, I promise you. Soon they'll discover that girls aren't just soft boys. Suddenly they'll become civilized — and even thoughtful and considerate. Just you wait and see. (Copyright 1975, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

Attention!
Prospective brides

Because of misunderstanding on wedding pictures, The Telegraph is asking prospective brides to arrange for good black-and-white wedding pictures for use with wedding stories.

Color photographs and black-and-white prints off a color negative are unsatisfactory for good newspaper reproduction.

Rather than be disappointed by having a picture rejected by the newspaper, we are advising brides to insist on a black-and-white picture shot with black-and-white film.

Facts About Carpet Installation

Many people go to their carpet store with their eyes wide open. They've read books and literature on carpet construction and carpet fibers and they know just what they want for their home. They've consulted decorating books which talk about carpet color and texture and they've decided on exactly what they want. Then they purchase their carpeting, and wait for it to be installed . . . with their eyes tightly closed.

Carpet installation is an important part of the total carpet package you buy. You can purchase a good quality carpet . . . yet if it's installed improperly, you'll not be getting your money's worth. When making your carpet purchase, be sure to ask how it will be installed. And ask who will be doing the installing. Wermers employs only professional men. They have only one job — full time floorcovering installations. This we consider important because these people are always knowledgeable of changes in methods and materials. They make it their business to know. This serves you.

There is a technique to making seams — our men have that ability. Due to pile reflection of light goods must be put down in certain directions. Our installers know that. We could mention more but we repeat — "A Good Floorcovering Properly Installed Is Your Best Floorcovering Buy."

The best way to be sure that a reputable installer is going to be putting in your carpet is to buy your carpet from a reputable store. Their reputation depends on quality installation jobs.

Three basic needs for a carpet value are: 1. Proper color and style for your desires. 2. Carpet at a price that is competitive. 3. Proper installation.

At Wermers — 313 W. First St. — We have all of these. We hope our experience starting in 1947 is something we can help you use to your advantage.

Schools feel fund crunch

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — While the level of state aid to education is climbing rapidly, local school districts are still experiencing a money crunch, an education official says.

Don Eslick, assistant to the superintendent of education, told the Joint Revenue Property Tax Subcommittee Tuesday that the increases in state support have been offset by inflation and a slowdown in local property tax revenue.

Under the Illinois school aid formula, the taxpayer will pick up the tab for educating his children through a combination of state sales and income taxes and local property taxes.

"Legislators and others believe that schools have been going through a real boom period in terms of finances," Eslick said. "But there has been considerable erosion in the property tax base."

The education official said the erosion has come primarily because of exemptions approved by the legislature and the elimination of the personal property tax on individuals in 1972.

In response to a question, Eslick said a substantial number of school buildings will be closed over the next few years as enrollments continue to decline and school boards can no longer afford to keep them open.

Although state aid to local schools has jumped from $365.6 million in 1968 to an estimated $1.17 billion for the upcoming school year, Eslick contended that inflation has prevented the use of the money for "great and widespread improvements in educational quality... or big teacher salary increases."

The subcommittee took no action on Eslick's report.

On another matter, Sen. Terrel E. Clarke, R-Western Springs, chairman of the subcommittee, predicted that Gov. Daniel Walker would sign a measure passed last spring, which would lower the required assessment level of property for taxing purposes from 50 per cent to 33-1/3 per cent.

The bill was passed to eliminate the possibility of skyrocketing property taxes that would result in some areas if the Illinois Supreme Court ever ordered the state to enforce the 50 per cent assessment level. Studies show that all counties currently assess below 50 per cent.

The group also set dates for hearings on several bills relating to property tax assessments, which had been recommended by the subcommittee and are pending in the legislature. The hearings were set for Aug. 21 in Effingham, Sept. 3 in Rockford, Sept. 16 in Carbondale and Oct. 1 in Pontiac.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman, for some years a resident in London, to his correspondent in this town, dated April 12, 1773.

"Dear Sir,
I cannot forbear troubling you with a few thoughts on the late commission, for taking up and bringing over, persons concerned in burning the Gaspee schooner. If such a proceeding be permitted to pass uncomplained of, and unremonstrated against, on the part of America; I know not what can be wanting to render us, in miserable slaves, as ever existed. The commission is, in its effect, a general warrant of the worst kind; should it be established as the law and the practice, with regard to America, who is it that can fit a moment secure of his liberty or life? The accusation which subjects an Ame-

Contemporary newspapers did not make much mention of the destruction of the Gaspee. When the British appointed a commission to investigate the affair and set up a special procedure for trying those involved, the colonial press began to talk of oppression. Solomon Southwick, publisher of the Newport Mercury, was an ardent Patriot who joined in the protest. This excerpt from the issue of June 21, 1773, is superimposed on the paper of June 28. CARE of your PROPERTIES!"

In Lieutenant Dudingston the Rhode Island traders faced a determined "fire-eating sea dog." The Mercury reported that he had said he would be delighted to see Newport burn, and that he swore "he would lift a finger to put out the fire."

Dudingston was haughty and insolent with masters of vessels that he boarded during his cruise about Narragansett Bay in the Gaspee. And it was charged that his men stole sheep, hogs and chickens from farms around the bay. This arrogant British officer couldn't fail to infuriate people, and the local citizens were elated when Dudingston's ship ran aground. Merchants and other Patriots soon got their revenge by burning the Gaspee.

This was hardly an incident that could be ignored by British authorities; a naval vessel had been destroyed and a king's officer had been attacked. When news of the affair reached England the ministry decided to offer a reward of 500 pounds for information leading to the conviction of those responsible. In addition, a royal commission was created to investigate matters and send suspects to Britain for trial.

It was generally known that John Brown and other prominent Providence men had organized the attack on the Gaspee, and had also led the raid. No effort had been made by the participants to disguise themselves.

When the investigating commission met in Newport in early 1773, however, it found that the citizens of Providence had remarkably short memories. No one could identify the rioters; and no one would admit to any knowledge of the Gaspee affair. In all probability an informer would have risked his life if he had testified. Faced with the defiance of the Rhode Islanders, the commission was powerless.

Despite the seriousness of the burning of the Gaspee, the crown decided to let the incident pass with the hope that greater harmony between Britain and the colonies would result.

But the Patriots refused to drop the matter. They could see ominous possibilities in the way that the ministry had reacted to the Gaspee riot. It seemed to many that the appointment of a board of inquiry was interference in the internal affairs of a colony. And the prospect of forcing suspects to stand trial in England was unthinkable.

Not only Rhode Islanders were aware of these dangers. Newly created committees of correspondence made sure that these threats to American liberty were well publicized by printers throughout the colonies in newspapers and broadsides.

Jefferson wins nightcap as White Sox earn split

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "That puts us over our toughest stretch of the season," sighed Manager Chuck Tanner of the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night following a doubleheader split with the California Angels.

"It would have been easy to quit but the boys didn't; they battled back and avoided what could have been disaster," said Tanner.

The White Sox, who had lost successive doubleheaders in Minnesota Saturday and Sunday, were playing their third twin bill in four days. After dropping a 10-4 decision in Tuesday night's opener, the Sox were on the verge of losing three doubleheaders in four days.

However, a four-run rally in the sixth inning boosted them to a 4-1 triumph as Jesse Jefferson twirled a four-hitter but needed ninth-inning help from Rich Gossage.

With two outs in the ninth, Jefferson gave up a single to Dave Chalk and two of his nine walks to load the bases. Gossage came in to retire Morris Nettles and earn his 17th save of the season.

"I wanted him to get a complete game," said Tanner of Jefferson, whom the Sox acquired from Baltimore last June, "but I went as far as I could go. Nettles already had two of the four hits off him so I couldn't take a chance, especially with Gossage ready."

The Sox loaded the bases on a pair of walks surrounding a double by Deron Johnson as starter Bill Singer, 6-11, departed. Don Kirkwood walked Jerry Hariston to force in the tying run and Bucky Dent put the Sox ahead with a sacrifice fly before Pete Varney hammered a clinching two-run double.

The first game was all California as rookie Jerry Remy drove in four runs with a pair of singles and scored twice and Mickey Rivers hammered four hits including a triple and drove in a pair.

The Angels piled up eight runs in the first three innings as Ed Figueroa coasted to his ninth victory against eight losses. Figueroa, however, was unable to finish because of wildness and departed in favor of Jim Brewer after loading the bases with none out in the ninth.

No football for Cubs

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It was first and 10 for Philadelphia.

Unfortunately for the Chicago Cubs, it wasn't the Philadelphia Eagles they were playing, it was the Phillies. And the game was baseball.

Bill Bonham started Tuesday night's game for the Cubs. He never knew what hit him.

What hit him, in succession, was Dave Cash, Larry Bowa, Garry Maddox, Greg Luzinski, Jay Johnstone, Tommy Hutton and Mike Schmidt.

There was no call for unnecessary roughness. The only call was for reliever Ed Crosby, who might well have been covering in the Cubs' bullpen.

Johnny Oates, Maddox and Johnstone proceeded to hit him, too, and when the first-inning carnage was complete, the Phillies had 10 hits—the first eight in a row—and 10 runs. The other eight innings were academic. Philadelphia walked to a 13-5 victory.

Pirates 6, Cards 1
Despite the offensive explosion, the Phils failed to cut into Pittsburgh's 4½-game lead in the East Division. Richie Zisk, Duffy Dyer and Bill Robinson made sure of that, driving in two runs apiece to beat St. Louis.

Dyer and Robinson each had two-run triples while Zisk divided his work with a double and a homer to back Jim Rooker's seven-hitter.

Dodgers 5, Braves 0
Like the Phils, the Dodgers came out on top but went nowhere in the standings, remaining 15½ games back of Cincinnati in the West.

Don Sutton blitzed the Braves with a five-hitter to chalk up his 40th career shutout and become the NL's first 15-game winner. Jimmy Wynn's 16th homer gave him all he needed.

Reds 6, Giants 3
Csar Geronimo hit a tie-breaking single in the seventh inning and kicked in with an RBI single in a two-run eighth to beat the Giants and keep Cincinnati's Big Red Machine rolling.

Padres 6, Astros 5
It was a rolling ball that knocked Houston off the tracks against the Padres. Bobby Tolan singled with two out in the 10th and moved to second on a balk before Fred Kendall hit a roller to shortstop Jerry Davanon, who fumbled it to let Tolan score the winning run.

Expos 7-7, Mets 0-0
The Mets got a double dose of the blash from Montreal's pitching staff and, for the sixth time in 10 twinbills this year, came out on the short end in both games.

Don Carithers pitched a five-hitter in the first game, but Dennis Blair and Woodie Fryman teamed for one in the nightcap. Bob Bailey and Barry Foote homered in the opener and Pete Mackanin drove in two runs in the second game.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
The Baltimore Orioles had the Boston Red Sox right in the hand of their Palmer.

"I can't pitch any better than that," said Jim Palmer after his gorgeous two-hitter led Baltimore to a 3-0 victory over Boston Tuesday night. "It was a blend of concentration, control and stuff."

The Baltimore ace was at the top of his form—because he was on top of the batters.

"I really got on top of the hitters tonight," said Palmer, whose major league-high 16th victory pulled Baltimore within 7½ games of the American League East leaders. "I got everything over the plate and made only a couple of bad pitches. I had both good control and good stuff. I also threw a lot of curves. I had to—those guys are fastball hitters."

Palmer struck out eight and walked one to give the Orioles a sweep of their two-game series with the Red Sox. Palmer, 16-7, outduelled Luis Tiant, 13-11, who was tagged for nine hits and all three runs in seven innings.

Yankees 4, Brewers 3
Bobby Bonds' home run in the ninth inning carried Catfish Hunter and New York over Milwaukee. Bonds' homer, his 22nd of the season but only his first since July 20, helped New York's premier right-hander improve his record to 15-10. Hunter scattered nine hits.

Royals 6, Twins
John Mayberry hit his third home run in as many games, a two-run shot during a four-run fourth inning, as Kansas City defeated Minnesota behind Al Fitzmorris' two-hitter. Fitzmorris allowed both of Minnesota's hits in the fifth inning when Johnny Briggs doubled and scored on a single by Eric Soderholm.

The Walnut Senior Babe Ruth-American Legion baseball team recently concluded a very successful summer with a 20-8 record. This marked the initial season of competition in the American Legion program and tournaments.

Walnut won 19 out of 23 games after starting with a 1-2 mark after losses to Dixon and the Magnolia Legion. Magnolia was the 1974 Legion state champions. Walnut lost two games to Pekin and Magnolia in the District 16 tournament at Peoria Limestone to complete its season.

The team was comprised of 12 boys from Walnut (population 1,300) and three from Sheffield (1,000). A total of 11 of the 28 game encounters were with Dixon, Magnolia, Peoria, Pekin and Kewanee, teams drawing players from populations many times the size of Walnut and Sheffield.

Highlights of the season included the 6-2 win over Magnolia behind Kevin Anglin's one-hitter, the 11-run seventh inning to defeat co-league leader Kewanee Orange, the 7-3 triumph against the Orion Legion, a 10-6 victory over the Oneida Legion to capture the Quint County League championship with a 10-1 record, the come-from-behind 10-9 win over Prophetstown after trailing 8-0, and the big victory over Peoria in the opening round of the Legion District Tournament plus having Pekin down 4-1 in the sixth inning before losing.

Ken Wilcoxon, a 16-year-old, paced the team's batting attack with a .488 average with 41 hits in 84 official trips which included eight doubles, two triples and one home run. He tied Joe Gibson for the RBI leadership with 24. Wilcoxon also led in runs (34), hits (41), total bases (75), doubles (8), triples (2), and least strikeout ratio (8 in 105 unofficial at bats).

Runner-up in batting was catcher Kevin Rabe with a .412 mark. Rabe drove in 16 runs with three doubles and a triple out of a total of 21 hits. He also struck out only 7 times in 56 at bats.

Anglin, also 16, followed with a .360 average including six doubles, a triple and two homers. He led the team in walks (26), stolen bases (12), and was second in total bases (68), runs (31) and hits (27).

Mike Mungor batted .347 and drove in 17 runs while ending up fourth in batting. Mungor tied for the home-run leadership with Anglin and Joe Gibson with two each. Fifth in batting was third baseman Dan Smith at .319, followed by Gibson's .315. Doug Parker (.306) and Bill Ganschow (.300) also batted .300 or better for a team which had a team average of .317.

Anglin, of Sheffield, was the top pitcher with an earned-run average of 1.82 in 57 innings. Anglin notched big wins versus Magnolia, Kewanee Orange, Orion and Peoria. The hard-throwing lefty finished with a 5-2 record. Anglin struck out 74 and had one save.

Mungor pitched 53-plus innings and won six games, including two victories over the second-place Kewanee Blacks. Mungor was subject to some defensive lapses in his five defeats and ended the year with only 17 earned runs out of the 52 that scored with him on the mound. He struck out 62 and had a 2.20 ERA.

Dan Smith hurled 28 innings and compiled a 4-0 ledger with 26 strikeouts and a 2.00 ERA. Gibson also threw 28 frames and ended 3-1 on 31 strikeouts and 2.78 ERA.

Other department leaders included Bill Ganschow with three sacrifices, Doug Parker's 144 putouts, Dennis Smith's 49 assists, Terry Hasbrook's least errors (0), and Anglin's most bases on errors (9).

A total of 10 players will return in 1976 and six of the ten have two more years of Legion ball remaining. Next year's schedule will include games with the Legion District teams during the season plus the Quint County League.

Bear poaching a problem in Smoky Mountains Park

By CARL MANNING
Associated Press Writer
GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — Officials report a new problem in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park: Bear poaching.

Chief Ranger Dick Moeller estimated that up to 200 black bear were killed by hunters sneaking into the park last year. Moeller said there are about 800 bear roaming the park wilderness.

"There is really no way to tell for certain how many bear were killed or for that matter, how many there are in the park," he said. "All we can do is make estimates based upon observations and information."

Moeller said about 50 persons have been arrested for illegal hunting in the last two years. A person convicted of hunting within the national park faces up to six months in federal prison and fines up to $500. Transporting an animal across the state line brings up to five years in prison and fines up to $10,000.

About 75 per cent of the poaching last year was for commercial purposes, officials said.

The hides and meat are sold on the blackmarket mainly in Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina and Virginia, Moeller said. He said last year bear meat on the blackmarket was selling for $3 a pound, while a complete bear hide was selling for about $100.

He estimated the value of a live cub was up to $300 and a mature bear could be sold for about $500.

Moeller said many hunters use dogs to chase the bear into an area where they wait with their guns ready, while other hunters set up bait stations for the animals.

"They use things like sardines to lure the bear into a specific area," he said. Other hunters use a variety of traps, although the traditional vise-jawed bear trap is seldom used.

He said one of the more common traps is the "deadfall," in which the animal walks on a triggering mechanism, causing a heavy weight, such as a log, to fall, crushing the skull or breaking the neck.

Moeller said one part of the problem is that many area residents have been bear hunting longer than the park has been established.

The Doctor Says:

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you tell me what causes gout and what to do for it? The doctor said I had gout in my feet. The balls of both feet are sore and sometimes my toes burn and seem to draw as if I had cramps in them. It is very painful.

DEAR READER — Gout is not caused by eating rich foods and drinking. It is caused by an overproduction of uric acid by your own body.

What is uric acid? It is closely related to proteins and is a byproduct of the formation of new body cells. When you are generating that enormous number of new, red blood cells, three million every second, you are also forming uric acid. It is formed in the process of manufacturing the important nucleic acid DNA in the nucleus of the cell. Anything that stimulates the breakdown of cells or stimulates their growth will increase the production of DNA.

It follows that a person on one of those fad diets that promises massive sudden weight loss may have a sudden acute attack of gout. The diet leads to breakdown of muscle cells and release of excess quantities of uric acid.

The uric acid forms a salt (sodium urate) that can form crystals and induce a complicated process in the joints that results in red hot, painful, swollen joints. This is commonly the big toe, but other joints may be involved.

Deposits of the uric acid salt in the joints lead to a form of arthritis, called simple gouty arthritis. It can lead to a slow destruction and deformity of the joints involved.

While diet is helpful in treatment of gout, it is not as important as controlling the overproduction of uric acid by your own body cells. The diet should be one, though, that gradually decreases excess obesity without any crash effort that may cause an acute attack as I mentioned.

You can eat a diet completely free of uric acid and still have

INVITATION FOR BIDS
The Lee County Special Education Association will receive sealed bids for a new gravel parking lot and related work on Thursday, August 7, 1975, at 4:00 P.M. in the office of McLane and McLane Architects, Dixon, Ill.

Plans and specifications are available at the Architect's office. There is no plan deposit. This is an equal opportunities project and prevailing wages must be paid.

Bids must be returned to the Architect's office on or before the time stated above. Bids will be opened and read aloud. Aug. 5, 6, 1975 high uric acid levels and gout. A purine-free diet used to be the big thing because purines (from tissue cells and particularly organ meats) are used in the formation of uric acid. However, the body can manufacture lots of uric acid on a diet completely free of purines.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-633: Lorna B., aged 19, is a college sophomore.
"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am madly in love with a senior. He swears he loves me with all his heart and thus wants me to share an apartment with him."

"For he says love is all that counts, so we don't need to go through a wedding ceremony. He argues that marriage is merely an old-fashioned custom, anyway, which will be discarded in this new age."

"But if he really loves me truly, why should he object to a wedding ceremony?"

Sex Vs. Love
Women usually equate sex with love, except for "Call" girls and prostitutes who merely commercialize on sex. But men may enjoy sex without having any affection at all for the girl!

Thus, rapists may actually hate their victims and slash their throats or strangle them afterwards!

Because girls are thus naturally somewhat idealistic and sentimental regarding love, they make a tragic mistake of judging men by their own viewpoint.

Alas, that's why the divorce rate is around 30 per cent for America at large, plus nearly 50 per cent in New York and California.

When a man says he truly loves a girl; then propositions her regarding sleeping with him without a wedding ceremony in advance, that very fact should warn every woman!

For true love differs from sexual infatuation by being unselfish.

In both sexual infatuation as well as true love, the emotional elements are very similar.

For both give you butterflies in your tummy, plus palpitation of the heart, as well as an ecstatic, delightful feeling at the sight of your sweetheart or even at hearing his voice on the telephone.

But the one crucial difference between such sexual magnetism vs. true love is the "introvert-extrovert" orientation!

Physical magnetism causes its victim to think of his own pleasures, regardless of what is best for the other party.

In true love, however, your attitude is extroverted to consider what is best for the object of your romantic infatuation.

And occupying the same bed without benefit of a previous wedding ceremony injures the girl's future chances at happiness.

So the real test of whether a man is truly in love or merely indulging in clever salesmanship to glut his own erotic desires, is symbolized vividly by the wedding ring!

Bluntly stated, that weeds out the serious men from the frivolous boys!

It makes a girl's suitor either put up or shut up!

Men who coax an infatuated girl into occupying an apartment with them, are likely to drop the girl as soon as they graduate and go back to the respectability of their home town!

The girl meanwhile may have become infected with gonorrhea and/or syphilis, for both are zooming to epidemic proportions in America nowadays.

And the girl, despite the prevalence of the "Pill," may get pregnant and either seek an abortion or foist the baby on her parents or let it be adopted.

True marital happiness depends on being smart and often suffering some temporary tears or heartache as you wait for the wedding ring! guy.

Girls who are poor gamblers, sell out their chances for long time future happiness by being temporary concubines. That's stupid!
